

Peer review

Question: How can I gain insights into how my peers evaluated my work and performance this semester?

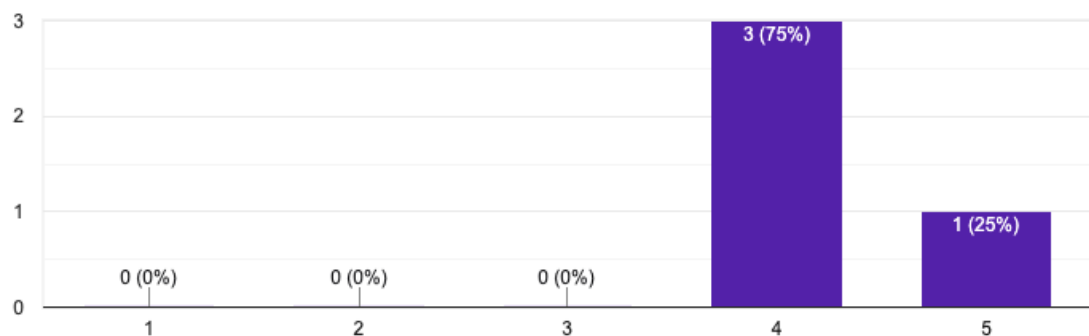

Method: Survey

Results

On a scale of 1 to 5, how would you rate my overall performance during the project?

 Copy

4 responses

What do you believe were my strengths during the project?

4 responses

Communication

- Communication skills
- Always attentive
- The voice of professionalism and focus in the team
- Your work ethic

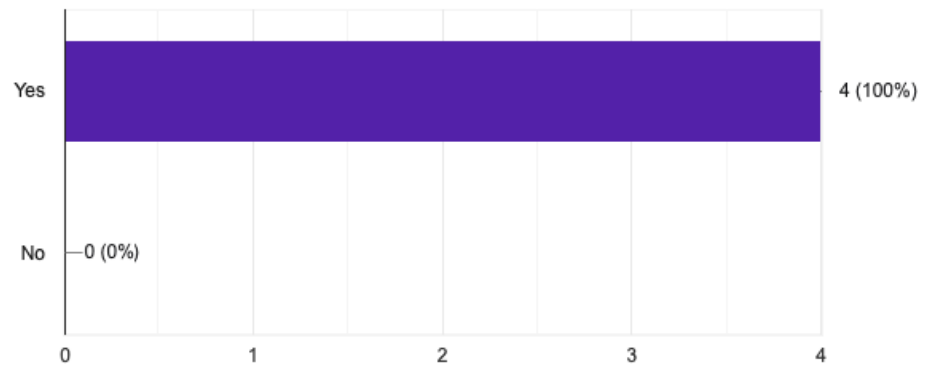

As a POC you have done a great job, communicating between stake holders and other, and you have contributed enough to the group in all aspects.

Document Analysis, Contact with stakeholders

Did I effectively contribute to team collaboration and communication?

 Copy

4 responses

In which areas do you think I could improve my performance?

4 responses

Design

- Giving people a chance to respond, even if their idea is wrong in your eyes.
- Working towards the team's goals. Sometimes you took the initiative to do certain tasks, but they either weren't in scope or was too fast for the teams progress.

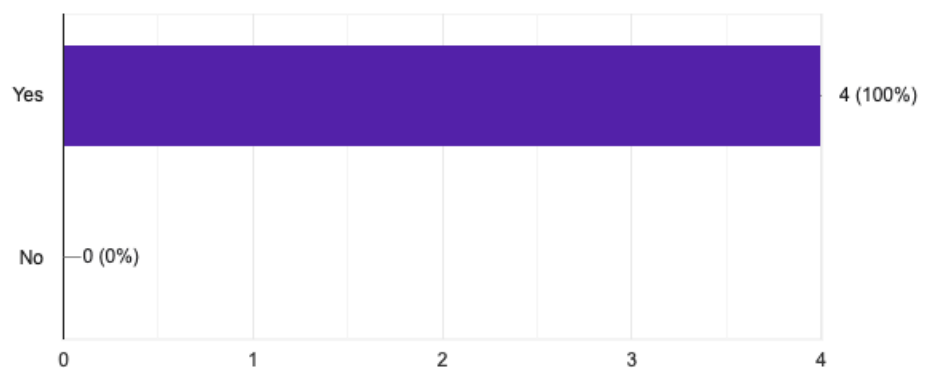

Doing too many unnecessary work, doing more than what is told to do and a bit more listen to others opinion, other than that you did a good job.

Team collaboration, Time management

Did I demonstrate good problem-solving skills and critical thinking?

 Copy

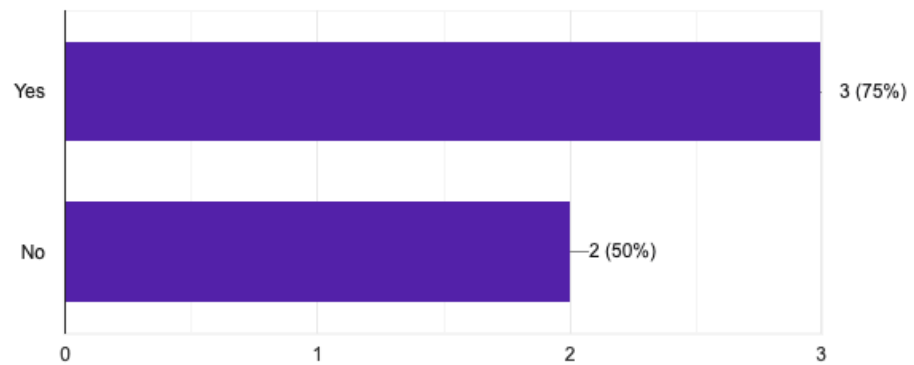

4 responses

Did I actively listen to others' ideas and perspectives?

 Copy

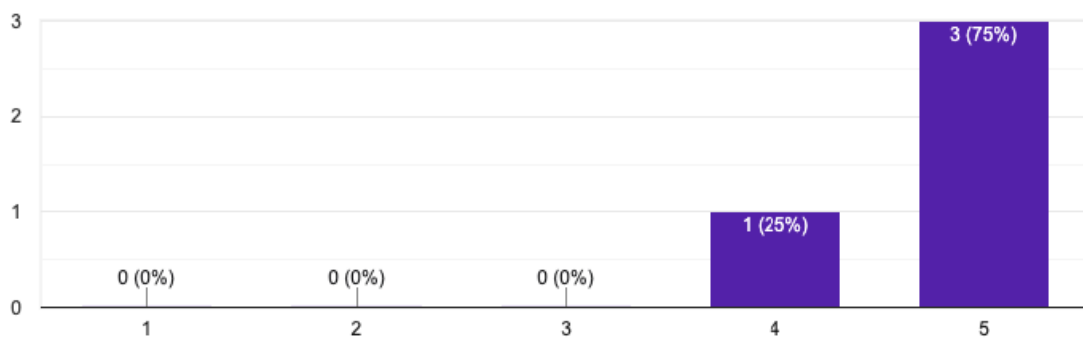

4 responses

How would you describe my level of commitment and dedication to the project?

 Copy

4 responses

My takeaways:

From the conducted survey I can conclude that my peers really appreciated the efforts I have put into the project. Something that I have to truly reflect on is the fact that 2 of them stated that I did not actively listen to others ideas and perspectives and that also I need to slow down the pace in certain moments which I find as an aspects that I need to further improve on. As for my strengths they valued my work ethic and communication skills as well as my overall commitment and dedication to the project.